to kenneth: has the town of guilderland got any proposal for it's expansion and what it allows and what it doesn't allow? It seems as if all developments proposed by crossgates are approved at the drop of a hat. has serious thinking and planning gone into this? why doesn't crossgates include this new store that they are proposing in the mall itself? i heard that many stores are going out of business, especially brick and mortar stores. it would seem good use of their mall to put this new costco there instead of a busy, busy, intersection. has a traffic study been done on this corner? study the effects of everything involved, ; including the effects on the environment, traffic, the town of guilderland itself. be smart. don't jump into something because a big corporation tells you what to do. there are already two guilderland police stationed at crossgates. the mall, i also , heard may be in jeopardy of going bankrupt. be wise, don't compromise and give in to this bully.

sincerely, linda becker
